For the reasons set forth in the foregoing discussion, the court concludes that the application of the dollar-for-dollar setoff in chapter 13 cases is a violation of § 362(a)(7), and thus violates the First Amendment. *15 JONES, Chief Judge, and KRAVITCH, Circuit Judge, concur. CANTERO, District Judge, specially concurring: Having joined the opinion authored by Judge Smith, I write separately to restate my view that unless and until Congress amends the Code to explicitly permit setoff in chapter 13 cases, such setoff is prohibited under the First Amendment to the Constitution. [Prevalence and profile of repeated failures in diabetic retinopathy screening]. To study the relation between diabetic retinopathy and retinal vascular events in diabetic patients over 35 years of age and to search for a marker which would more efficiently detect these patients. All diabetic patients under medical treatment, followed in a single metabolic center, were submitted to a 1-year non-interventional study. They had previously undergone two to four standard ophthalmoscopies, also whenever necessary. During the study patients underwent two to four new retinal vascular events. Study patients were monitored for a total of 210 months, or 44,200 months of observation (mean observation period, 28.5 months). During the study, 140 diabetic patients had a retinal vascular event (64.3%). Two to four retinal vascular events were observed in 98 patients (52%), one in 31 patients (16%), and no event in 43 patients (22.6%). In patients with retinal vascular events, the rate of evolution to proliferative retinopathy was 76.5%. Diabetes patients have a high risk of retinal vascular events during the course of the disease, and retinal vascular events are a risk factor for development of proliferative retinopathy. The age of onset and the duration of the disease were not determinants in this
